The Ferry Not Stopped.

Mr. Wolf, owner of the West Wheeling ferry, says the statement that the ferry has stopped running is not true. They intend to run the boat right along as they always have, seven days in the week.

Directors Re-elected.

The annual stockholders' meeting of the Riverside Iron Works was held at the company's office on Main street last night, and the old board of directors was re-elected, as follows: J. N. Vance, W. L. Hearne, C. P. Doney, F. J. Hearne and J. D. Culbertson.

Left with the Coat.

Yesterday morning a colored marine patient named Westbrook, who had been in the North Wheeling hospital for some time, went out for the first time. A white fellow patient loaned him an overcoat. Up till last night neither the patient nor the overcoat had been seen or heard of again.

Ten Days in Jail.

Yesterday Mike Gaffney, alias Cusick, was arraigned before Squire Gillespie, charged with the larceny of two razors from John Gloeckner the night before. He was arrested by Officer Scally. The justice fined him $10 and costs, and in default of the cash gave him ten days in jail.

A Sick Arabian.

Last night an Arabian came from Ashland, Ky., on the Ohio River railroad, and when he got here he was so sick he could scarcely talk, and he had no money. Lieutenant Gaus telephoned to the North Wheeling hospital and the sisters kindly agreed to care for him. He was hauled up in the patrol wagon. All he could say was, "Oh, sick."

Marriage Licenses Issued.

Clerk Hook yesterday issued marriage licenses to the following named parties: David Bilby, aged twenty-three, and Estella Cole, aged sixteen, both of Valley Grove.

Charles B. Creemore, aged twenty-six, of Sistersville, and Stella McCoy, a widow, aged twenty-six, of Wheeling.

Edward Fritz, aged twenty-six, and Bertha L. Bick, aged twenty-four, both of Wheeling.

Accused of Burglary.

In the criminal court yesterday, Judge Jordan on the bench, the case of Walter Williams, colored, accused of breaking into Pat Gavin's saloon, on Main street, and stealing some cigars, liquors and a small sum in money, was put on trial to a jury. Prosecuting Attorney Howard appeared for the state and Colonel Arnett for the defense. The evidence was finished about 4:30 p. m., when each side was limited to one hour for argument.

No recess was taken, and the jury went out just before 7 o'clock, and a few minutes later returned with a verdict of guilty of petit larceny. Sentence was postponed and Williams was remanded to jail.

In the Circuit Court.

In Judge Campbell's court yesterday the case of W. L. Reese, an infant, by his next friend, against the Wheeling &amp; Elm Grove Railway Co., to recover damages for alleged injuries received on the road, was postponed until the next term, and set for trial April 10, the first trial day of the term.

In the case of James McAdams vs. Mary E. Higgins et al., the sale made by W. J. W. Cowden, December 30, was set aside and another sale directed to be made by said commissioner, a bond having been filed to pay $100 more than on the former sale.

Before Judge Paul a petition was filed by C. A. Schaefer, guardian of Christian Stoehr, for permission to sell a lot on Eighteenth street. George E. Boyd was appointed guardian ad litem.

"The Black Crook" To-night.

The "Black Crook" will be produced at the Opera House this evening with all the grandeur and completeness which marked its remarkable run in New York. Three gorgeous ballets have been specially arranged, in which a large number of lithesome coryphees will take part, including a number of children.

Magnificent costumes have occupied the attention of eminent costumers for some time, and the results will be found to eclipse all previous efforts in securing artistic brilliancy. New and elaborate scenery has been constructed, and electricity will play an important part in illuminating by means of hundreds of incandescent lamps, the terpsichorean revel. Prominent among the leading features will be the grand march of the Amazons, armed cap-a-pie in glittering armor. European artists of distinction will introduce clever specialties, including the famous quartette of French Quadrille Dancers, from Paris, and the Brothers Rixford, from St. Petersburg.

Masonic Fair Supper.

The supper committee of the Masonic Fair and Festival expects that their part of the entertainment will be the leading attraction of the week. The ladies of the committee are making elaborate preparations for tempting luncheons and delicious suppers, which will be served in the following attractive cafes daily between the hours of 12 m. and 2 p. m., for luncheon, and 6 p. m. and 8 p. m. for supper:

Casino, Old Vienna Cafe, German Village Cafe, Kalks Tempel Cafe, Marini Cafe.

THE POTTERS REFUSE

The Reduction of Wages Proposed by the Employers.

A WELL ATTENDED MEETING HELD

By Their Assembly Yesterday Afternoon at Which any Reduction is Rejected—The Same Action Here as at East Liverpool—The Pottery will Undoubtedly now Remain Idle for Some Time.

Yesterday afternoon a largely attended meeting of Local Assembly No. 255, K. of L., was held in Walther's hall, on the South Side. This is the potters' local union, and the object of the meeting was to consider the recent proposition of the employers to reduce wages. As was clearly explained in the INTELLIGENCER at the time the pottery manufacturers offered two reductions, one absolute and the other contingent. The former was a reduction of ten per cent on all wages on the working list—that is, on all the skilled labor except in the decorating department. The employers say they offered an uniform decrease of ten per cent, but the men claimed that the reduction was so made that in some departments it would mean much more than that. The contingent reduction was a further cut of twenty per cent on the reduced wages of clay hands and fifteen per cent on those of kiln hands, to be reserved by the company pending the action of Congress on the Wilson bill. If the pottery schedule passed in its original bill the reserved wages were to be kept by the employers, while if the duty on pottery wares was increased a proportionate part of the reserved fund was to be paid to the men.

The kilnmen, dippers, saggar makers and potters generally were largely represented at yesterday's meeting, and after some discussion it was unanimously decided to accept no reduction whatever, contingent or otherwise.

There can be little doubt that this action will necessitate the continuous idleness of the potteries for some time to come. There has been no reduction of wages in the industry since 1885, yet the selling price of the potters' products has decreased in that time 25 per cent. This leaves so small a percentage of profit that the manufacturers say they cannot afford to run, and to continue at this time to turn out ware at protection wages with the probable reduction of the duty starting them in the face would be simply suicidal. It is almost morally certain that no more work will be done in a Wheeling pottery till after the Wilson bill is finally disposed of. The men say, however, that the reduction offered amounts to almost one-half, as they figure it, and they could not think of accepting that.

"MOTHER GOOSE" AGAIN.

The Second of Her Reception Repeats the First's Success.

Another large audience gathered in the Opera House last evening to witness the second reception by Mother Goose. The programme went off, if possible, even smoother than on the first night, and the audience was thoroughly delighted. Miss Pollock as Mother Goose, proved a graceful hostess, and she made her guests, both on and off the stage, feel perfectly at home. It would be difficult to tell which enjoyed it all more, the participants or the spectators.

The features again were Jack Goose's "cornet solo," Miss Flora Pollock's violin playing, the live pony, live pig, and especially the singing of little Eleanor McLure, whose "Daddy Won't Buy me a Bow-wow" brought down the house. "Friday" was one of the stars. The flower dance was a beautiful thing, well executed.

The committee of ladies in charge has been urged by so many people to give a matinee Saturday that it will meet today to decide whether to do so. There is a general desire to have a matinee for the children.

QUITE A SPELL OF WEATHER.

A Mild Blizzard and a Pronounced Cold Wave Arrives.

Yesterday forenoon there were several showers of rain, and they continued until the middle of the afternoon, when the rain suddenly changed to snow, and by evening enough snow had fallen to whiten the ground everywhere. On the sidewalks it was quickly tramped smooth, and then freezing made the walking exceedingly nasty and even dangerous. A number of bad falls were reported, but nobody was seriously hurt, so far as heard. Last night a fully developed cold wave was on deck, and the promise was for much lower temperature to-day. It is hard on the destitute, requiring more coal and making their thin clothing more inadequate than ever.

In Olden Times

People overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with transient action; but now that it is generally known that Syrup of Fico will permanently cure habitual constipation, well-informed people will not buy other laxatives, which act for a time, but finally injure the system.
